

Once there lived an island discovered by Lord Thistlewickians, they named the island Thistlewick island. It was not like any other haunted, disastrous island filled with treasure and been blood and ghosts. However, this mystery may be caused by the gloomy and dull forest, striking and preying anyone in their paths. After the 100 death its been never to be entered again. Until a new serge of heroes are brave enough to enter the mouths of the deep deadly forest again. Will anyone dare to break the evil spell of the dark forest? Will anyone survive the creepy crawling's of the forest. Will anyone succeed their deadly quest against the deadly beast?

