

RAINBOW

Rainbows are formed when the sun is shining and the raindrops in the sky are mixing with the sun drops. The science behind this is...the light enters a water droplet, slowing down and bending as it goes from air to denser water. The light reflects off the inside of the droplet, separating it into its components, wavelengths—or colours. That is why with a glass of water and a light source you can actually create you own rainbow.

